Art Unit: 3781

The election as set forth in the previous Office Action is withdrawn in view of the cancellation of the non-elected claims.

1. Claims 1, 2, 7, 9, 22-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) as being anticipated by Hucknall (2583270), or in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hucknall. Hucknall teaches a band portion 13 circumferentially surrounding a substantial portion of the watch, the band portion including first and second free ends, a transparent window 7 interconnecting the free ends of the band portion. It is noted that the term band portion is defined as the only main band portion 13 in Hucknall. This main band portion has two ends connected by the transparent portion 7 as claimed.

2. Claims 1, 2, 7, 9, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Hucknall. Regarding claim 1, to the degree it is argued that Hucknall does not teach the interconnecting of the first and second free ends, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the transparent window extending completely across the width of the band to provide the desired area for viewing.

Regarding claim 21, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the dimension as claimed to provide the desired size for the user.

3. Claim 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Hucknall rejections as set forth in paragraphs 1 and 2, and further in view of Brady (5704067). It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide absorbing foam material as taught by Brady, col. 2, ln. 20-22, to provide the desired material for the device.

4. Claims 5, 10, 20-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Hucknall rejections as set forth in paragraphs 1 and 2, and further in view of Lerro (4078660).

Art Unit: 3781

Lerro teaches that it is known in the art to provide heat seal for an arm band, 43, and 19. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide heat seal to attach the plastic material to the band to provide an alternative means for attaching the plastic material to the band.

5. Claims 26-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Hucknall rejection as set forth in paragraph 4, and further in view of Brady (5704067). To the degree it is argued that the elastic band in Hucknall is not absorbable. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide absorbing foam material as taught by Brady, col. 2, ln. 20-22, to provide the desired material for the device.

6. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Hucknall rejections as set forth in paragraphs 1 and 2, and further in view of Worth (5924135) or Karpf (1857195). It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide clear plastic film as taught by either Worth or Karpf to provide the desired material for covering the watch.

7. Claim 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Hucknall rejection, as set forth in paragraph 6 above, and further in view of Brady and Lerro. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide heat seal to attach the plastic material to the band to provide an alternative means for attaching the plastic material to the band.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide absorbing foam material as taught by Brady, col. 2, ln. 20-22, to provide the desired material for the device.

8. Claims 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 9, 10, 20, and 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) as being anticipated by Tsui (608549). Tsui teaches a device with a band portion and a transparent window 10a (col. 3, ln. 7).

Art Unit: 3781

9. Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Tsui. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the dimension as claimed to provide the desired size for the band.

10. Claims 4, and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Tsui in view of Brady (5704067). It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide absorbing foam material as taught by Brady, col. 2, ln. 20-22, to provide the desired material for the band.

11. Claims 26, 27, and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Tsui in view of DeWoskin (4606079). DeWoskin teaches that it is known in the art to provide heat seal for attaching the end of a strap, col. 5, ln. 25-32). It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide heat seal for attaching the two ends of the strap to the device to provide the desired attachment to the device.
